DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, requires the specification to be written in "full, clear, concise, and exact terms." The specification is replete with terms which are not clear, concise and exact. The specification should be revised carefully in order to comply with 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph. An example of some unclear, inexact or verbose terms used in the specification is: At the paragraph bridging pages 1 and 2 the sentence is unclear in the phrase, "with the strength in a direction that right angle to the laminate planes being extremely low...".

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claim 4 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

4. The term "volumetric content" in claim is a relative term which renders the claim indefinite. The term "volumetric content" is not defined by the claim, the specification does not provide a standard for ascertaining the requisite degree, and one of ordinary skill in the art would not be reasonably apprised of the scope of the invention. It is not clear what total unit of measurement the volumetric content is based upon..

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

6. Claims 1 and 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(a) as being anticipated by the literature reference to Ranta et al, cited on applicant's form 1449.

7. Ranta et al discloses a method for dispersing carbon nanofibers in an epoxy resin, wherein the resulting "matrix" is then used in filament winding. Applicant has attempted to differentiate over this reference at page 3 of his specification by stating that, "this attempt was concluded that the carbon nanotubes dispersed resin did not affect the mechanical properties of the filament winding composites". This statement does not differentiate from the presently claimed invention since there is no claimed indication that the carbon nanotubes dispersed resin of the present claims must effect the mechanical properties of the fiber reinforcement. The filament winding of the reference correlates to applicant's fiber reinforcement. The resulting filaments of the invention include 11 layers of carbon nanofiber impregnated epoxy that has been dispersed into the filament winding. See page 1779, 2.3.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 1714

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claims 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the literature reference to Ranta et al, cited on applicant's form 1449 as applied to claims 1 and 3 above and in view of the following remarks.

10. The ordinary practitioner in this art would have found it obvious to formulate a filament winding having fewer than 11 layers or even a single layer of the Ranta et al composites depending upon the intended function of the final product.
